THE STOCK MARKET "GLITCH" EVENT

Question: Does Awareness have an opening message and is there any topic or current event Awareness would like to discuss at this time please?

Cosmic Awareness:

This Awareness would indeed like to discuss two current events that have recently taken place. The first is the stock market glitch, as it has been described, and the second is the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico. Both are current matters that have piqued much interest and concern, not only from the membership, but also from the world itself. First, the matter of the stock market glitch: this was not as has been suggested, a glitch at all but rather an event that was somewhat planned and manipulated. In other words, this event did not occur because one minor official in a bank somewhere accidentally typed in the letter B instead of the letter M.

The Market Freefall a Planned Event & not a Computer Glitch

This was simply one of several cover stories to explain why the computer went into freefall, why the computer system did not operate correctly, and why the failsafe system failed to click in. The truth of the matter is that this is yet again a case of market manipulation by those who have power, as they are seeking to flex their muscles, and are seeking to bring about certain events they are in charge of and in control of. This was a trial run, so to speak, and they were the ones, "they" of course being those in charge, those who have the power, those who are the Elite, the hidden ones; they were the ones who wanted to see what would happen if they caused a sharp decrease in a matter of minutes to see if the systems worked or did not work as planned.

The Powers that Be Immensely Enjoy Chaos and Confusion

They enjoyed the chaos and confusion of a collapsing market immensely. These are the kind of events that suit their warped sense of humor. There was something practical to their experiment, but when they caused such stress and such loss and such chaos -- this very much suits their mentality, for they are also in a manner of speaking, very bored with life and it is when they can charge things up and create such chaos such stress that they come to life, so to speak. It does indeed suit their warped sense of humor, as exhibited in the past when certain events that occurred were broadcast in advance or were shown to be not what they seemed to be.

The 9/11 Event: Why they Chose that Particular Date

The incident of 9/11 of course was chosen on that day to make fun of the 911 emergency code and it is their way of saying that, "You can call as many emergencies as you wish, we are in charge here!" This event with the stock market crashing was a similar situation, where they showed yet again that the stock market is not a random entity that works on that happenstance way of things. They, being the controllers, are in control. They, the controllers can create chaos and mayhem when they wish by simply pushing a button at their end. Part of the experiment was to see if the failsafe systems would work the way they wished them to work, not the way that they allegedly had been planned to work. It must be understood that the way they are planned to work and the way this plan has been expressed to the public and even to those in the stock market itself is that the stock market will shut off at a certain stage. But this is not what happened. The failsafe system did not work, which is exactly what was desired by those in control. It worked for them, but their plan is different than the plan of the others that are allegedly in charge.

"Who has benefited the most from this Event?"

This is to be understood, so that when events such as this happen, observers to the events can immediately say, "Who has benefited the most from this event?" If it was indeed but a random event, a glitch that had something to do, so it is alleged, with events in Greece and in Europe, that had to do with an entity of non-importance simply typing in a wrong letter, then this system is a very weak system indeed. Yet these cover stories were given out and were believed: that it is a glitch, that the international market in Greece and Europe affected the American market and there was an individual, a faceless, nameless individual who had so much power and capacity that in the single mistyping of a letter could cause a six minute freefall of the most allegedly secure system in the world.

To look at it as an observer from the outside, these seem absurd in their implication, and yet many never ask the question, "Whom does this event serve?" They simply accept the excuses that are given, the explanations that are thrown out, and they go on as if it was what it was claimed: a simple glitch in the market and in the computer system. What was effectively shown in this event is that there is no failsafe system that will shut off the stock exchange and shut down the computers, so that those who are allegedly in charge can adjust the market or find out what is happening. It also shows that there is a tremendous vulnerability, not necessarily perceived to be the vulnerability that is the result of a hidden cabal that is in charge of the whole world's economy, but rather apparently a weakness in the computer system.

The Tie into Greece and the American Dollar and the Euro

Again, this Awareness alleges that this is not a system failure, not a weakness in the computer system, but the result of planned actions on the part of those who are the hidden controllers. There is also another reason why this event took place and this has to do with the status of the American dollar, and its strength as the world's leading currency. The tie into Greece is that it is seen that the Euro, the European currency had been gaining strength, and that the great crisis had seriously affected the power of the Euro, but that the power of the Euro had become threatening to the strength of the American dollar as the world's leading currency.

There is a reason why it is wished that the American dollar remains at the top of the pile, but there are threats to it continuously, not the least of which is the European currency of the Euro, and by tying in this belief that the world's economy can be affected by Greece and its decline and troubles, and by tying it in to the Euro, then there is reason when the Euro is weak to support the American dollar once again. This would give power back to those in America who have the charge and dominion over the nation and are amongst those of the Elite who are manipulating and controlling the world. Therefore again, "Who did this event most serve?" It serves those who have the hidden power, those who are the cabal of control, those who dominate world events from behind the scenes.

Therefore, there was nothing truly accidental or random about this event and to believe so only supports one's ignorance in the understanding that there are indeed powers behind the powers, controllers behind those who are allegedly in control, and this event was one of those events. Ultimately, there will be other such events before a total collapse occurs at a timing that best suits the Elite, those in charge, but at this time this Awareness wishes only to speak of that which occurred recently, and is not open to speculate on the timing of other collapses that are ahead. It simply would say that this too is part of the overall plan, and this is part of that which must be prepared for, for those who are aware of these matters.

Questioner: (Question please). The scenario then would be an indication should such occur again, is that correct?

Cosmic Awareness: Indeed. Should such occur again then individuals might well remember the words of this Awareness, and might look at that new event as another example of the manipulation and control that is being exerted. Many who have listened and read the words of this Awareness over the last many years automatically ask, "Who stands to benefit the most from this event?" But this Awareness is putting out to those who have never been exposed to this way of thinking or even to support those who are familiar with this concept, to look again and again at all events on the planet at this time as events that are not random or accidental, but are self-serving. The true question is, "Who do they serve the best?"

THE OIL SPILL IN THE GULF OF MEXICO

The other event this Awareness wishes to discuss is the matter of the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico. This is also not what it seems to be and there is much to be gained by certain powers who can shut down the major industries of the Gulf at this time, major industries such as the fishing industry, the shrimp industry, and the tourist industry, and there are those who stand to gain tremendously at this time from this occurring. This is not to be understood simply by financial gain but by gaining a tighter control of a region that has already once before been attacked by the Hurricane Katrina several years ago and the collapsing of the levee which was not thought to be in trouble at the time, since repairs had been done on it just prior to its collapse.

FEMA would be in Charge Once Industry Collapses

The collapse of the fishing industry, the tourist industry, and the shrimp industry would have strong economic consequences on the people of that region, and would put them once again firmly under the thumb of FEMA eventually, because many will declare it as a natural disaster and when the economic prosperity of the region starts to collapse, there will be those who have more control as a result. This is the advantage that is sought in this region. It is also seen that this event again is not what it seems to be, in that this was not an accident but rather a staged event. This Awareness is not seeing that the organization BP is the one that staged this event, but it is seen that there are others who had it as their purpose to create this event and that they were the ones who sabotaged and then created the explosions that destroyed the actual rig itself.

The Sabotage: An Explosive Device was Dropped into the Pipe The Bubble of Methane was a Cover Story

The sabotage came in a charge that was introduced into the pipe coming from the surface of the ocean and up into the oil rig, and this charge is what exploded the gas in the tube and destroyed the oil rig. A claim has been made that there were was a bubble of methane that caused this event. This is seen as simply a cover story, and it was not a bubble of methane but an actual explosive device attached to the pipe that then blew up and created the problem and destroyed the rig. It is also seen that there are actions here that are not quite ready to be fully exposed as to who exactly had created this dilemma, but it must be understood that there were those who gained from the result and will gain from the result.

There are Simple Ways to Deal with the Surface Oil

It must also be understood that there are rather simple ways by which the oil on the surface of the water could be dealt with. One of the ways is to simply spread hay and grass cuttings, such as blue grass cuttings onto the surface of the water. The hay and the grass cuttings have a quality that would attach the oil to them and they could then be gathered up and safely disposed of in a way that is not harmful to the ecological system of the region. And yet rather than use this very simple method of controlling and mopping up the oil, chemical products instead are used and it is not known to what extent they will cause damage. These dispersants are also to be bought and therefore someone gains from the selling of these dispersants for the purpose of cleaning up the oil, dispersing the oil, whereas the relatively simple and cheap solution of using products readily available in the region is ignored. Again, this is because someone is served by this, someone gains through this, and others lose.

Why Natural Products like Hay and Grass is not Used

The reason why such natural products such as hay and the grasses to mop up the oil are not being used is because this would work too well, and as this Awareness said, there is a reason why this event has occurred. It will state more at later times, but for now this Awareness simply wishes one and all to understand that nature itself, despite this tremendous disaster, will eventually restore itself, and will once again find balance in the region because that is the way of nature. It may however take many years for this to occur, and in those many years a lot of people will be deeply affected, and many may well move away from that area, for their livelihoods are no longer in that region, and are no longer sustainable and they may well move to other regions or be moved by those Powers That Be to other regions for their own welfare, or so it may be presented. This tragedy is not yet complete, but this Awareness is complete as to Its comments on this matter at this time.

Questioner: Thank you. Just a small question: is there a particular reason that this area is being sabotaged in so many ways?

Cosmic Awareness: This is that which this Awareness cannot go into fully at this time.
