THE 7-47 COLLISION AND BIG "DISASTERS" IN GENERAL
(This way, Folks. The 'Big Event' is About to Happen)

Question:
Would Awareness please explain, so that entities can understand, the Cosmic, Karmic, and other mechanisms at work which culminate in some disaster which takes the lives of many entities? For example: there is always a ferry boat somewhere going down, a train wreck, a plane crash, an earthquake and so forth, all which take a great loss of life, with usually a few escaping uninjured. An example is last month's crash of two 747 jetliners, billed as 'history's worst aviation disaster'. In this one, 580 persons were killed and 66 survived. Awareness has indicated that there are no accidents, which implies that all these entities were somehow led and converged at that point where most of them were dispatched from this earth plane. Did these entities, on some level, know that their time was up, or realize that for them, for their own evolvement, it is better for them to leave this plane now, and is this the reason why some very gifted people are seemingly snatched from life right at, or near that point, where they could contribute the most to life on this plane? Could we please have an explanation from the viewpoint of Awareness?

Cosmic Awareness:
This Awareness indicates that in relation to your own time system, wherein you move from previous experience into future experiences, moving from moment to moment, day to day, one experience to another, there appears to be a direction in the sense of time.

This Awareness indicates that this as Third Dimensional consciousness. This Awareness indicates that the Fourth Dimensional consciousness, which can view the Third Dimensional plane, is capable of seeing an Eternal Now, which exists now, and now, and now; wherein 'now' is likened unto a screen in a theatre with the images of matter and experience being projected upon that 'now' moment, yet the 'now' moment continues to be what it is.

This Awareness has given that the Universe appears and disappears every four-quadrillionths of a second. That the appearance and disappearance occurring every four-quadrillionths of a second, occurs in the Eternal Now, and there is no change in time. There is only change in terms of location and the nature of the images which are projected upon that 'now', upon that Eternal Now, upon that four-quadrillionths of a second.

This Awareness indicates that the changes which occur in terms of the images are such that the images are beginning to fade with each appearance and disappearance, or the images are coming into being and are developing and growing with each appearance and disappearance.

This Awareness indicates that these images which are seen as fading, appear to the onlooker as though they were passing, fading, aging, and moving backwards in time, becoming older; and the images which are developing appear to the onlooker as though they were becoming, moving from future into present, or present into future, depending on which way one observes.

This Awareness indicates that this is a viewpoint from the Fourth Dimensional consciousness looking at the Third Dimensional experience of that level of consciousness. This Awareness indicates that likewise, from this Fourth Dimensional consciousness, the viewpoint has been centered around the concept of viewing that which the senses can perceive: the senses perceiving the forms of the Third Dimensional world, the senses of sight, sound, touch, taste, hearing and smell. These senses are limited and not all-inclusive of all experiences.

This Awareness indicates that your ability to view past, present and future from a consciousness which is limited, and from senses which are limited, allows you a limited view.

This Awareness indicates that from another view there is that consciousness which looks at the Eternal Now, but does not only see that which is past, but also sees that which is future. This Awareness indicates that your level of consciousness tends to look toward that which is past and toward that which is present, and finds difficulty in seeing that which is future. This because the senses are oriented toward matter, toward those forms which reflect light, sound, touch, smell and taste.

This Awareness indicates that these forms tend to be magnetic in nature. This Awareness indicates that another level of consciousness is capable of perceiving these forms of the spiritual level, the akashic forms, or the anti-matter forms which are not magnetic in nature, but which are radiant in nature; which are not mass nor matter, but are akashic or anti-material—the anti-matter, the spirit.

This Awareness indicates that when the consciousness perceives the anti-matter level, that which is seen is the future as well as the past; and from that level the future is that which pulls the consciousness, and the past is that which repels the consciousness.

This Awareness indicates that when the consciousness perceives the anti-matter level, and the future is that which the consciousness cannot perceive, is repelled by the future. This Awareness indicates that it takes great effort for the consciousness to perceive that which is future when the consciousness is looking at the material levels.

This Awareness suggests that in this sense you may begin to understand the material universe and the anti-matter universe as moving in opposite directions when perceived by consciousness; the consciousness of each being that which moves in opposite directions. The time of the material level, when perceived from the anti-matter level, is moving in an opposite direction.

This Awareness indicates that wherein the present entity moves into trance and an entity asks a question about a past life, the consciousness which this entity, the Interpreter, is in tune with, moves forward in time to explore that past life. This Awareness indicates that it takes several seconds, sometimes several minutes, of moving forward in time to look at that past life.

This Awareness indicates that in the sense of an entity dreaming, wherein the entity is in a dream state, a sleep state, there are instances in which most entities may recall dreaming that they have moved about in a situation, entered into a type of situation, for example: perhaps moving into a building wherein they did not belong, becoming fearful that they might be caught and exposed in that building, and dreaming several instances and situations leading to a sudden ringing of the burglar alarm, knowing that you have set off this alarm, and fearing that the police will come and arrest you. This Awareness indicates that suddenly you awaken, realize you have been dreaming, and the alarm clock is ringing.

This Awareness indicates that what has actually taken place here appears to be a coincidence in which you began dreaming a situation that led to a burglar alarm ringing at the exact coincidental time that the alarm clock rang. In reality, the alarm clock rang, and you dreamed your dream backwards in a very quick moment, though in your consciousness it appeared to move slowly.

This Awareness indicates that likewise, in the anti-matter world, your movements go in the opposite direction of the material world.
This Awareness suggests that in situations such as the plane crashing... This Awareness will now ask you to move with It to the Inner Plane and to observe this incident, wherein the plane does crash and entities are brought to their final curtain in the drama upon this stage.

This Awareness suggests that in this Inner Plane, the crashing of the airplane has occurred, the tracing backwards of the flight to its origin, the gathering of the entities into the plane from their various sources: this may be viewed as likened unto a movie film which is run backwards.

This Awareness suggests that you visualize the instance of the plane crash as being on the Inner Plane, not having yet existed in the outer plane.

This Awareness suggests that the universes move closer together, wherein the anti-matter plane and the material plane begin to merge, this future moment coming closer to present time and the past moment of the material plane moving closer to the event of the plane crash, these two universal forces, the flows, coming closer and closer together, there is a magnetic pull which draws those entities who are to be involved in this incident toward their destination.

This Awareness indicates this as "set up" by their own consciousness through cooperation with their own inner selves, their own spiritual bodies, which are extended into the future, even as your physical body is extended into the past.

This Awareness indicates that your experiences from moment to moment occur from the result of your spiritual body which is extended into the future and present, meeting with your physical body which has come from the past and is in the present, and the merging of these two bodies in the Eternal Now.

This Awareness suggests this as difficult to explain for a rational mind, but wherein entities can meditate on these two bodies, (the anti-matter body and the material body), moving both toward future, and toward past, watching themselves come together in the "Now", entities may begin to understand that which cannot be clearly expressed in words. For words are not the experience; words can only serve as cups to carry the water of the experience.

This Awareness indicates that there are certain fluxes of energies, astrological as well as levels of consciousness, which do have their gathering points in terms of events, which become those moments of history wherein tragedies may occur or great joyous events may occur.

This Awareness indicates that even as the human body has its acupuncture points, wherein energies do culminate, and the human body has those points in relation to certain time elements wherein the point needs stimulation at a certain time of the entity's life, even as the world itself has certain points of significance upon its globe: the vortices and those energy points upon the physical world which may be likened unto its own acupuncture points; so likewise consciousness has those points, and consciousness extending in that concept which is an hallucination, yet which in the mind is called 'time', does have its certain acupuncture points. These acupuncture points are called 'events'.

These 'events' which occur in consciousness are the result of culminations of energy forces which come together at the certain moment, drawn from various directions and from various energies in consciousness and in the material realms.
